County Court House Gets Legal OK

Lana Holds Hopes Of Gaining Cheryl

Good Evening!

Breezes on the cool side.

But it's all right. Weatherman says ideal weekend of spring just like we've been having for the past two weeks and here's a hint: get yourself and your family out for a little tour of the countryside feathered with green just as we dreamed two months ago it might be.

Bob Friend and the Pirates handcuff the Phillies last night and clobber 'em 7-4.

We're going to stay away from Connie Mack stadium. We've yet to inspect Mayo Smith's charges first hand and watch them win.

Falls township supervisor Milt Berkes calls for an investigation of long-delayed construction of the Newportville road driving business men and residents of the area to distraction because of the horrible mess it has remained so long.

Time somebody demands something. What the Falls supervisors should do is to lower the boom and get effective action fast.

And we see where the Senate-House conference committee lowered the boom on Postmaster General Summerfield by refusing his five-cent first class mail rate demand and approving a four-cent rate instead.

That's good. And Summerfield's reaction to it is typical of the little postoffice dictator he's become and that's bad. What the postmaster general should be doing instead of ranting around like a child is to concentrate his attention on improving the United States mail service, rapidly hitting a new low.

This Courier-Times - sponsored tour of Europe in July promises to be quite a ball, incidentally.

Wish we could get this Delaware-Florida safari from Jim Wilson's Radcliffe street dock under sail. The crew — Harold Crocker, Bill Aitken, Tom Janes, Mac McClellan and you know who — has been packed up for a year.

Instruments have been invented that will throw a speaker's voice more than five miles. Now what we need is an instrument that will throw the speaker the same distance.

We sometimes wonder if the eloquent founders of this nation would have talked so glowingly of posterity if they had known we were going to be it.

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Lana Turner hoped today to regain custody of her daughter, Cheryl, the 14-year-old who killed her mother's lover.

Cheryl was released from police custody Thursday, cleared of any crime in the stabbing of handsome Johnny Stompanato. But her glamorous, movie star mother was denied custody of her only child temporarily.

Santa Monica Judge Allen T. Lynch ruled Cheryl a ward of the Juvenile Court and put her in her grandmother's care for two months pending final disposition of the case on June 26.

Lynch's decision meant that

Cheryl can never be tried for murder. She plunged a butcher knife into Stompanato's stomach April 4 after she heard him threaten her mother with mutilation.

The girl today was with the grandmother, Mrs. Mildred Turner. They were secluded in a home rented by Miss Turner and Stephen Crane, Cheryl's father and second of Lana's four husbands.

Jerry Giesler, Miss Turner's lawyer, said there was a good chance the actress would be awarded custody of Cheryl at the June hearing.

Judges Approve Building

Bucks County Court this morning approved the plans for the seven-story court house office building to be erected in Doylestown.

The county commissioners were authorized to advertise for construction bids. They will be opened five weeks after the advertisement is placed.

The approval of the plans and authorization to seek bids was announced by President Judge Edward G. Biester. The order is signed by himself and Judges Edwin H. Satterthwaite and I. Louis Rubin.

Memorandum

Following Judge Biester's announcement, Judge Rubin said he will shortly file a memorandum explaining his reasons for approval. He did not elaborate.

The judges conducted a hearing Tuesday on the petition by county commissioners for approval. At that time the plans were discussed in court.

Approval by the judges is a milestone in the long history of the proposed new court house, for which the architects were first engaged to survey in 1951.

The plans aired at the hearing Tuesday were for one part of the two-phase project. Architect J. Roy Carroll, Jr., estimated it will cost $3,600,000 to clear the site and erect the building. It will be constructed in the court house block, east of the present court house. The present court house is to be demolished when the new building is completed.

Same Judges

The Tuesday hearing was conducted by President Judge Biester and Judges Satterthwaite and Rubin. County Solicitor Robert W. Valmont presented, for the Bucks County Commissioners, the petition for court approval of the plans.

Valmont introduced as witnesses John T. Welsh, president of the county commissioners, and architects Carroll and Eliza Safford, Jr., both of the Philadelphia firm of Carroll, Grisdale and VanAlen.

No one spoke when Valmont had presented his case and the judges asked if anyone else wanted to be heard.

Crowded Conditions

In answer to questions by Valmont, Welsh said all county offices have become crowded, and that grand juries have recom-

Weatherman Goes Prankish

Just when you think the weatherman has run out of tricks, he springs a new one.

Temperatures are expected to make a winter-type plunge tonight on the heels of a mass of Canadian cold air. The low record for this date of 33 degrees may be broken by morning under the chill winds. It was registered in 1919.

The chilly conditions will linger through Sunday with fair skies tomorrow and partly cloudy skies Sunday.

Sunday will be the first day of Daylight Savings Time with the clocks to be pushed ahead 2:01 that morning.

Yesterday's high mark was 76 degrees with this morning's low 54 at 5 a.m.

Burgesses Back 'Buy Now' Drive

The "Buy Now For Lower Bucks" campaign today gained enthusiastic support from municipal officials in Bristol, Tullytown, and Morrisville and from the Optimist Club of Lower Bucks.

Burgess Anthony Nicoletti, Bristol, Burgess Reginald B. Olson, Tullytown, and Burgess Harry Simpson, Morrisville, in proclamations urged their merchants "to get back of the campaign."

Fred Schmidt, Optimist Club chairman, said his organization was pledging 100 per cent support.

The burgesses said the campaign, inaugurated by the Cour-

McDonald Rejects Wage Freeze Plea

PITTSBURGH (UP)—United Steelworkers President David J. McDonald said today that certain steel executives have informally suggested the union forego a wage increase scheduled for July 1, but that the union will hold the industry to its contracts.

"When we first signed a contract with U.S. Steel some 22 years ago, we stated publicly that the union was doing so with the firm belief that a contract was a sacred thing," McDonald told a conference of USW District 19 here.

"We have not changed that belief nor do we ever intend to change it."

Under the three-year contracts signed with the basic steel industry in 1956, steelworkers will receive wage and other benefits, which the industry estimates will cost 20 cents an hour per man, July 1.

Police See Re-Enactment Of Robbery

A suspect in the Jan. 22 robbery and beating of a 78-year-old Cornwells Heights grocer re-enacted the crime for Bensalem Township police today.

Chief William Riempp said the suspect, Norris Welch, 34, of 1020 Trenton Ave. Bristol, also signed a statement admitting the $44 robbery and clubbing of the grocer, Ralph Simons.

Welch was committed to Bucks County Prison without bail by Justice of the Peace Albert Schultz, Sr., after the suspect was confronted by the grocer this morning.

The Bristol man is being held on charges of armed robbery and robbery by violence.

Chief Riempp said the victim picked Welch out of lineup in Doylestown jail yesterday.

Welch was apprehended by the Federal Bureau of Investigation Monday on a fugitive warrant in Tuskegee, Ala.

Welch told Chief Riempp that after the robbery he left for his former home in Alabama. He told police he arrived there Jan. 24 and has hidden out ever since.

Two wallets taken from the grocer were not recovered. The suspect told police he threw the wallets from a bus somewhere in Virginia while making the trip south.

Realtors To Host Development Heads

Kermit Fischer, president of the Bucks County Development Committee; Gordon R. Exley, 2nd, director of the Bucks County Development Committee; and Murray C. Hotchkiss, co-publisher and vice president of the Bristol Courier and Levittown Times and president of the Bucks County Industrial Development, will be guests at the Bucks County Board of Realtors meeting May 1.

John T. Welsh, program chairman, announced that the speakers will be on a panel discussing "Industrial Development" at the meeting in Feasterville at the Bucks Hotel. Directors meet at 5:30 and dinner at 6:30 p.m.

Elmer F. Hansen, president of the Fort Washington Park, will also speak.

Auto Rams Bridge

Joseph R. Glatz, 31, of Sandy Run Road, Yardley, father of three children, was killed only a block from his home shortly before midnight yesterday, when his car rammed into a stone bridge wall at a creek on West Afton Ave. near Look-over Lane.

He was rushed to Mercer Hospital, Trenton, by the Union Fire Company ambulance, Morrisville, where he was pronounced dead on arrival. Dr. Richard Horwell, who examined Glatz at the crash, said he died of a fractured skull. Glatz was alone in the car.

Autopsy Stated

An autopsy will be performed later today at the hospital. The car was a total loss.

Chief of Police Frank D. Morgan said the car struck the stone wall of the bridge approach with terrific impact. Glatz was thrown against the right front door and wedged between the seat and the dash board. The door was forced open and he was lifted from the car.

Glatz was returning home from the 13th anniversary dinner of the Stokes-Trenton Inc., Trenton, held at a Trenton restaurant. He was a tool and die maker at the firm which manufactures hard rubber products.

He is survived by his wife, Kathryn; a son, Joseph, 2; two daughters, Kathryn, 8, and Virginia, 6; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William S. Glatz, Yardley; five brothers, William J. of Levittown; Lawrence R. of Gosham, Maine; Richard L. of West Haven, Conn.; Donald J. and Harry J., both of Yardley; two sisters, Mrs. Robert Parks, of Levittown and Mrs. Edward R. Rupprecht of Yardley.

Elks And Legion

He was a member of Trenton Lodge 105, Order of Elks, and Knowles-Doyle Post 317, Yardley-Makefield American Legion.

Funeral arrangements are being handled by Fitzgerald Funeral Home, Yardley.

Going in Circles

By MAURY ALLEN

Residents of Bristol Borough who took enough interest in the operation of their school board to attend its recent meeting got right into the act.

Carmen Mignoni, board president, invited the residents to sit at the same table with the school directors and tackle the budget tally sheets. The meeting started at 7 p.m. The residents left at 11 p.m. and the directors continued until 1 a.m.

Louis A. Paone, 316 Dorrance St., remarked, "This is one of the most Democratic meetings I have ever attended."

In sort of a busman's holiday type of thing, a Falls Township Rifle and Pistol Association is being formed by a couple of Falls Township gun-slingers.

Chief Franklin Kirby and Sgt. Gilbert Custer of the Falls Police and Bob Campbell of Fairless Hills are starting the organization which is open to any Lower Bucks resident. The group will meet Wednesday at the Fallsington School at 8 o'clock. Sergeant Custer said a junior and a senior division will be formed. The group will be affiliated later with the National Rifle Association.

The group will also have use of its own range at a later date, Sergeant Custer said.

The final stage of "Operation Helping Hand" by the Levittown Jaycees will take place tomorrow at the Oxford Valley Elementary School in Fairless Hills. The Jaycees will show a movie called "Tomahawk" with Yvonne DeCarlo, Rock Hudson and Van Heflin. Admission is by canned food with the food being turned over to the needy area families.

The Fairless Hills Fire Company and the United Steelworkers are cooperating with the Jaycees on the plan.

Salk Shots To Be Given Tomorrow

The "Wipe Out Polio Drive" in Lower Bucks County will open tomorrow afternoon at the Thomas Jefferson Polio Clinic, Levittown.

All residents of Bucks county are eligible to receive Salk Polio Vaccine shots at the Thomas Jefferson School from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. tomorrow for $1 a shot.

School Location

The Thomas Jefferson School is located on Apple Tree Drive in Levittown. The rear entrance of the school is on Red Cedar Drive.

Isaac Ben Ezra, clinic director, reports more than 25 volunteers will be on hand to speed the operation of the clinic. A staff of three physicians and four nurses will supervise the program.

Ben Ezra urges any persons who have not received a Salk Polio Vaccine shot within the last 30 days to receive their inoculations on Saturday.

"Bucks County was without a single new polio case last year and we can do it again this year," Ben Ezra asserts.

The clinic is especially aimed at pre-school age children. More than 5,000 persons have been inoculated at the Thomas Jefferson in the six previous clinics held within the last year.

At the most recent clinic, 300 children who were under five-years-old received the Salk Polio Vaccine.

Yardley Span

Denzler said the Federal Bureau of Public Roads has approved plans from both states, based on the Commission having land in its possession. Two properties on the Pennsylvania side, one on the mainland and a piece of property on Whyte's Island, and one on the New Jersey side are needed for positions for the abutments.

Construction of the $6,400,000, four-lane free bridge, 1.3 miles above the present Yardley-Wilburtha span, is expected to take about two years. The present bridge will be torn down. The Federal government will pay 50 per cent of the cost of the new bridge.

Robert L. John, executive vice-president of Michael Baker, Jr., Inc., consulting engineers, said design drawings for the superstructure have been completed. Design drawings for the lighting are complete except for lighting details. The lighting, he said, will be mercury vapor lamps on poles in the railing area. There will be two poles on each abutment and two poles over each pier.

Johns said bridge lighting will be part of the superstructure contract and all equipment will be owned by the Commission. Power for lighting the entire project will be purchased from the Philadelphia Electric Company. Plans for this work, he said, will be completed within two weeks.

Resignations

The resignations of five toll collectors for irregularities on the Easton-Phillipsburg Toll Bridge, submitted last year, were accepted. The Commission pointed out that the resignations were not accepted previously pending a full study of the collection of tolls at the five Commission facilities. Robert McNamara, bridge policeman at New Hope, who was allegedly found asleep on duty, requested a further hearing. The Commission named Alfred W. Seis, New Jersey counsel, to hear his case.

The Commission authorized the purchase of a 5 to 8 ton tandem road roller and advertising for bids for a trailer to transport it, plus two other rollers.

The Commission will offer $1 to the Western Union Telegraph Company to take over ownership of steel towers on piers and abutments of the Calhoun St. Bridge. The Commission plans to paint the towers.

Authorization was also given to buy equipment for the Milford-Montague Toll Bridge for the gauging of water for flood data information. Cost was estimated at $825.

Traffic Down

The volume of traffic declined on all five Commission toll bridges in March as compared to March of 1957, varying from a decrease of 6.82 per cent at the Trenton - Morrisville Toll Bridge to 18.65 per cent at the Delaware Water Gap bridge. Revenue also decreased on the five toll bridges, ranging from 7.01 per cent at Easton-Phillipsburg to 23.23 at the Milford-Montague bridge.

Vehicular traffic for March on the free bridges was topped by 500,121 crossing the Calhoun St. span between Morrisville and Trenton. The Lower Trenton bridge carried 492,055 vehicles; Yardley, 168,961 and Washington Crossing 45,280 during March.

Court Upholds Morrisville In Two Orders On Zoning

Ruling Made On Complaint By Center

Morrisville zoning officials were upheld today in two orders handed down in Bucks County Court on actions by Morrisville Shopping Center Inc.

They concerned efforts by the corporation to erect a two-story building, including a service station, in the Shopping Center, at West Trenton and North Pennsylvania Aves.

Judge Edwin H. Satterthwaite dismissed the complaint in which the center owners asked the court to command Robert H. Steward, borough secretary, to issue a zoning permit for the building.

The jurist upheld an objection to the action filed by Steward. In another action, the jurist dismissed an appeal by the Shopping Center corporation against the action of the zoning board.

The board last Aug. 26 denied an appeal of a refusal of a zoning permit. The judge ruled that the application for a permit was properly refused.

The corporation has 20 days in which to file exceptions to this order.

County Calls 24 For Jury Duty

Twenty-four Bucks Countians have been ordered to report to the Bucks County Court House, Doylestown, Monday, May 12, for grand jury duty in the May term of court.

They include:

From Levittown:

Milton Berkes, teacher, 56 Palm Lane; Asher M. Brown, engineer, 45 Jasmine Road; June Hunter, clerk, 374 Stonybrook Drive; Anna T. Millar, housewife, 364 Holly Drive; Hazelle Lobb Phillips, housewife, 15 Pinewood Drive; William J. Walsh, retired, 129 Farmbrook Drive.

Bristol, Bristol RD: Richard R. Phillips, laborer, 3109 Brightside Ave., West Bristol; Stanley J. Urban, insurance, Merlin St., RD 1.

Feasterville: John P. May, insurance, Maple Ave. and Pleasant Drive; Marion Parry, housewife, 28 Westfield Road; Andrew Schlotter, superintendent, 44 N. Eastview Ave.

Others from Lower Bucks: Miram R. Bond, clerk, 35 South State St., Newtown; Ruth M. Hackett, housewife, 215 Tewksbury Road, Fairless Hills; Paul Marsh, repairman, 257 Magnolia Ave., Croyston; James A. Richardson, manager, 121 North Harding Ave., Morrisville; Florence S. Tiffin, housewife, Makefield Road, Yardley RD 1.

Others called for the grand jury are:

Harry Bigley, manager 274 E. Court St., Doylestown; Alvin French, machinist, Herbleu Road, Warrington; Herbert M. Leatherman, merchant, 110 S. Franklin St., Doylestown.

Yvonne W. Scott, 22 Elm Terrace, New Britain; Alice D. Traub, housewife, Richboro; Florence Vincent, housewife, W. Bristol Road, Hartsville; Elmer Strack, retired, Springfield; Thomas R. Hill, retired, Wycombe.

'Buy Now'

Schmidt said, "The Optimist Club has members from every community in Lower Bucks and our motto is 'A Friend of the Boy'. We are pledging 100 per cent support."

"The campaign will indeed activate sales, which in turn will create employment. This situation will not only make for a better community but also for better standards for our boys."

He pointed out the club plans to participate in a parade and rally at five shopping centers Thursday night. There will be a "Buried in a casket at the end of the parade" possibly at Becks Mortuary, so he will be laid away at rest just as quickly as possible.

Kickoff Rally

A kickoff breakfast scheduled for Monday at 8 a.m. will be held at a site to be announced. Joseph A. Browne, Courier-Times advertising director, said he has received many reservations and plans are being completed to hold the breakfast at a site suitable for the expected turnout.

A Department spokesman in Harrisburg said the General State Authority plans to erect the museum and auditorium. Under plans submitted to the Authority the auditorium would seat 375 people.

Stockett Sees Chance To Get Aid, Cut Taxes

Benjamin F. Stockett, Jr., a member of the Bristol Township School Board today said he would ask the body to apply for federal aid under the Murray-Metcalfe bill now being considered by the U. S. Senate.

The bill, which is co-sponsored by Senator Joseph S. Clark, would provide $25 per pupil to any school district.

Earl B. Dougherty, Edgely justice of the peace, suggested the board support the bill and apply for its benefits at a public meeting Wednesday. The meeting had been called to question school officials on the proposed 1958-59 budget.

Five Arrested For Assault

State police of Quakertown Barracks, working around the clock since Sunday, yesterday arrested five Lehigh Valley youths accused of raping two Quakertown area girls.

Police obtained a warrant to arrest a sixth youth, Thomas Zientner, a member of the armed forces who fled from his Bethlehem home earlier this week. The officers said Zientner may be on his way overseas.

Arrested were George L. Morritt, 18, and Donald Eckert, 20, both of Hellertown, R. D. Thomas Baska, 20, Bethlehem R. D.; and Robert Reiss, 19, and Frederick Warner, 18, Bethlehem.

The five will be arraigned today before a Justice of the Peace in Northampton County. The State Police said the boys brutally attacked and robbed two girls, 16 and 17, northeast of Hellertown Sunday night.

The girls had been turning their car on a back road.

Corporal Frederick Christman and Trooper John Clisham of the Quakertown Barracks will draw up charges of rape, robbery, and burglary after a meeting today with District Attorney Edward J. Ruyak, of Northampton County.

Youth Still 'Serious' After Auto Crash

Jack Gorman was reported in "fairly good" condition today and Robert Davison was still listed as "serious" in Mercer Hospital this morning after being injured yesterday on Route 1 when their stolen car crashed.

The third boy, a Philadelphia known as "Eddie" had not been found.

Falls Township Police will hold the two injured boys until they are well enough to be released for Philadelphia police on a larceny charge.

Committee Member Has Space Puzzler

WASHINGTON (UP) — Rep. James G. Fulton (R-Pa.), a House Space Committee member, has been trying to get the answer to a celestial puzzler for days.

The puzzler: "If a missile is in a position where he thus equals the drag and the lift equals gravity, where is it and what is it doing?"

Fulton, who poses the problem to each committee witness, says he ran into it on a Naval Reserve exam that he took. Rep. Leo W. O'Brien (D-N.Y.) gave him a hand with his problem Thursday.

O'Brien told Maj. Gen. John P. Daley, Army special weapons chief, that the committee had a Navy man who was "trying to get ahead" and asked Daley if he knew: "If a man is going in six different directions at the same time and the same speed which direction is he going?"

Fulton: "May I restate the question?"

O'Brien: "Why not?"

Fulton: "If a missile, etc..."

Daley: "Just a moment." (He leaned over to confer with Herbert York, Pentagon chief space scientist.)

Fulton: "I wish you wouldn't confer with Dr. York. I had no help."

York: "It's just flying steady straight and true."

Rep. Gordon McDonough (D-Calif.): "Is that the same as an irresistible force meeting an immovable mass?"

Fulton: (aside) "You know, he didn't answer the question."

Road Petition In Harrisburg

A committee from the Newportville Road Businessmen's Association is in Harrisburg today demanding action on hastening completion of Newportville Road construction.

William Lawrence, chairman of the group, said the members will attempt to take their problems to Governor Leader in person.

They left for Harrisburg armed with petitions signed by 1,000 residents asking for relief to the road problem which has hurt their business.

Falls Township Supervisor Milton Berkes told the businessmen he would seek an investigation as to why the road has taken so long to be completed.

The road job contract was awarded last Aug. 23.

State Trooper's Petition Dismissed

HARRISBURG (UP)—Dauphin County Court has ruled that it cannot force the Pennsylvania state police commissioner to call a court martial against a trooper. The court, in an unanimous decision, dismissed a petition by trooper Robert Lang of Bucks County, who has been charged with divulging the contents of a confidential order to an unauthorized person.

Lang had asked the court to order Col Earl J. Henry, state police commissioner, to either call a court martial in the case or drop the charge. He pointed out that his enlistment expires May 15 and he did not want the charge against his record.

Marrero Judged Sane By Psychiatrist

TRENTON, N.J. (UP)—A psychiatrist has adjudged sane a 24-year old laborer who shot three neighbors and terrorized a residential neighborhood last Saturday night. Louis Felipe Marrero currently is being held in $100,000 bail for charges of atrocious assault and battery with intent to kill as a result of the shot gun rampage.

Dr. J. B. Spradley of Makefield Road, Yardley, reported yesterday that Marrero "knew the difference between right and wrong and the nature and quality of his acts at the time of the commission of the crime."

Halperin Reports On Settlement

J. Halperin and Company of Pennsylvania, report the settlement of a parcel of ground on Route 130 South - opposite Levittown, N. J. for $50,000. Being constructed on the site is a modern $250,000 diner.

The diner faces the new Levittown Shopping Center being erected at this time.

There is also additional ground available at this site, the firm reported.

Woman Loses Wallet Containing $75

A Levittown woman lost her wallet containing $75 in cash in the Levittown Shopping Center last night about 6:30 p.m.

Mrs. Charles Arasin, 64 Quail Road, Quincey Hollow, said she was shopping with her two children, Linda, 5, and Sandra, 2, in Pomeroy's Department Store, when she noticed the wallet gone. She can be reached at WI 5-5912.

School Tax Holds Line

Bristol Borough residents can look forward to one year without a tax increase if the school budget tentatively approved last night by the Bristol Borough School Board is enacted.

The budget calls for expenditures of $721,690.89, or only about $1,000 more than the amount for the current school year.

At the same time the board set a tentative tax rate of 49 mills. This is the same rate as the current year and will mark the first time in eight years the school tax has not been increased.

The borough school board wielded a sharp economy axe as it "trimmed every budget item to strictly necessities."

There is, however, one fly in the ointment. The school board members headed by President Carmen Mignoni pointed out that residents must look forward to a tax boost of eight to ten mills for the 1959-60 school year.

McDonald

But he accused U.S. Steel Board Chairman Roger Blough of proposing "by indirection of course" a long-term wage freeze in steel, while laying the groundwork for another price increase "along about July."

The USW president cited a speech by Blough in Cleveland last week in which the U.S. Steel executive accused those who advocate wage increases as a means of increasing consumer purchasing power of perpetrating a hoax. "Mr. Blough... conveniently forgot to tell his Cleveland audience that since the end of World War II the steel industry has raised prices 22 times as compared with 10 wage increases," McDonald said.

"Light Up The Township" Starts In Makefield

Civic Unit Aims To Halt "Crime Wave"

By JACK SCULLIN
Courier-Times Staff Writer

More than 75 percent of Lower Makefield Township's 1,700 homes were "lit up" last night and this morning in a campaign sponsored by the Makefield Civic Association to thwart would-be burglars.

Henry Hoffmeister, Jr., civic group president and Frederick W. Strock, advisor to the association and originator of the project, known as "Light Up The Township", said this morning they "were most gratified by the cooperation of tract chairmen and residents" following an inspection tour last night.

"During the past several weeks" Hoffmeister said, "many homes in our township have been burglarized and robbed. This crime wave will be on the upswing now that we are faced with unemployment and business conditions such as they are."

"We are aware of the fact that we need additional police protection, especially during the hours of midnight to 6:30 a.m. Until this additional protection is furnished, we plan to have our residents light either their post lamps, porch or house lights upon retiring," he declared.

He pointed out that "there is no hysteria or panic in the township whatever but residents are alert to an evidently unfortunate situation or crime wave."

He said that residents will be requested to keep their lights on upon retiring "as long as the civic association and its members feel it is a necessity."

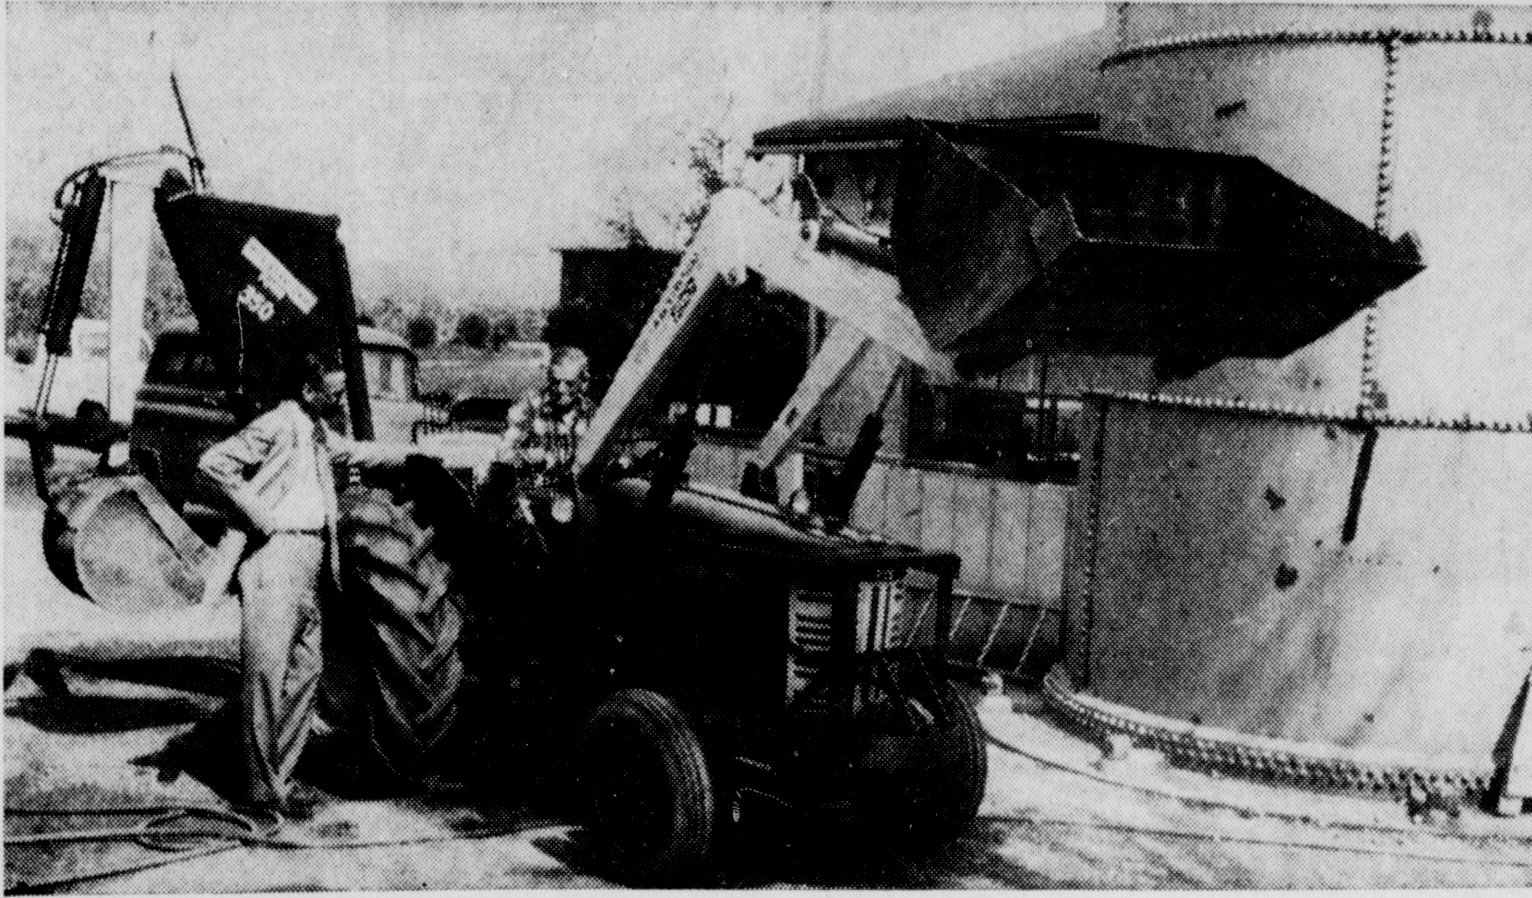

Hoffmeister said that "we have observed that after 10 p.m. there is usually a downward trend in lighting in the homes and porch lights and lamp posts. Our campaign, while it is in progress, wishes to be sure that lights stay on all night."

He said that "for each 100 watt bulb lighted during the hours of 10 p.m. and 6:30 a.m., the additional cost of electricity would amount to approximately 90 cents a month."

The Board of Supervisors on Monday said they had added police protection measures in effect because of the series of robberies.

Hoffmeister said the "Light Up The Township" project has been given the full support of the supervisors.

Officials Inspect New Boro Tractor

Borough Secretary Robert H. Steward (left) and Walter Neumann, superintendent of public works, inspect Morrisville's new tractor, which features a front-end loader and a back hoe. The tractor has been secured from the King Supply Company under a three-year rental plan where the borough will eventually own the $6,300 apparatus. It will be used to make water main taps and street work. (Courier-Times Photo).

Day Nursery School Plans Are Approved

The Session, Board of Trustees and Council on Christian Education of the First Presbyterian Church, Morrisville, has approved the establishment of a day nursery school at the church beginning this Fall. Rev. Clifford G. Pollock, pastor, has announced.

All children to be enrolled in September must be three years of age before January 31, 1959. The school will be manned by a competent and accredited staff which will conduct a program similar to that which is followed in most church nursery schools. The school will be held in the morning five days a week with a cost in keeping with other church nursery schools.

The enrollment will be limited, Rev. Pollock said, and the first 25 children to be enrolled will be given preference. Those interested are urged to contact Miss Janet Knox, director of Christian Education, at the church office.

Women Voters Plan Officer Installation

Installation of officers and voting on two questions will feature a meeting of the Yardley-Morrisville League of Women Voters at the Washington Crossing Inn on Wednesday.

The business meeting will begin at 10:30 a.m., Mrs. James Fitzcharles, president, has announced, followed by a luncheon at noon. Reports will be given after lunch by Mrs. William A. Huber, delegate, now attending the national convention this week in Atlantic City. Also attending the convention are Mrs. Robert Kelso, Mrs. Sheridan Johns, Mrs. Samuel Ungerleider, Mrs. Harry Levin and Mrs. George R. Smith.

Officers to be installed include

Mrs. James Hiltner, second vice president; Mrs. Alfred VanWagon, recording secretary; Mrs. Forrest C. Jobs, treasurer; Mrs. George R. Smith, Mrs. Morton Miller and Mrs. Ungerleider, directors for two years; and Mrs. Kelso, director for one year.

The nominating committee includes Mrs. Frank Chestnut, Mrs. Evan Healy and Mrs. A. H. Keefer.

Questions on which the membership will vote are the need for a study of a technical engineering survey of Lower Makefield and Yardley for sewage disposal and a survey curriculum of Pennsbury Schools.

Ideal Mother Judges Named

Gene Graves of Radio Station WTTM, Ray McFadden of WTJN, Trenton, and Lydia Bogane of WBCB, Levittown, have been named as judges in the Morrisville Shopping Center's search for Morrisville's Mother-of-the-Year.

The search is being conducted by the Center now and until April 30. The decision will be made from public nomination.

Any person may nominate a mother who resides in the borough of Morrisville or the townships of Falls or Lower Makefield. Nominations must consist of a description of 100 words or less telling why a certain mother's qualities are those closest approaching ideal motherhood.

Awards

The Morrisville Shopping Center will award the selectee a complete new Mother's Day wardrobe including jewelry and flowers, a permanent wave and Mother's Day dinner for two at the Mark Restaurant in the Center. A valuable prize will also be awarded to the person who nominates the Mother-of-the-Year.

Any person who knows of a mother who deserves this honor should send or bring their nominations to any store in the Morrisville Shopping Center.
